FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

EIU TO HOST SPEECH COMMUNICATION CAMP

CHARLESTON, IL--Eastern Illinois University will host the 16th Annual Speech Communication Camp for high school students June 19-25.

Any student, freshman to senior, who desires to improve his/her communication competence may attend the camp.

It is an intensive, one-week period of skill development. However, time will also be set aside each day for students to relax and enjoy Eastern's recreational facilities.

Those attending the camp will select one area of performance development from among five being offered: Television Production,

EIU SPEECH CAMP

Radio Programming and Operations, Oral Interpretation, Theatre and Public Speaking.

Final performances to highlight student efforts during the week will be held the final day of the camp.

The fee of $190 covers instruction, materials, housing and meals in a University residence hall, accident insurance and recreational activities.

Commuter students may also attend and are required to pay a fee of $125, which does not include meals or housing.

A $30 deposit must accompany a completed application, with the balance of $160 due by June 3.

Applications may be picked up at EIU's Adult and Continuing Education Office on the Eastern campus. Interested students are encouraged to apply early as enrollment is limited.

Those needing help with the fee may be able to obtain a scholarship to attend from local community organizations. Local speech or language arts teachers, guidance counselors or the high school principal may know what help is available in selected areas.

Anyone with questions regarding the content, topics, instructors or structure of the camp may contact the Director, Dr. Terry Perkins at (217)581-2016. Questions regarding the application form or registration process should be directed to Eastern's Adult and Continuing Education at (217)581-5114. Ask for Janice Kozak or Kaylin Johns.
